

GOV. MILLER WOULD QUIT FOR TOMPKINS

Talk of Justice for Nomination Fails to Draw Any Further Comment.

WON'T SAY HE'LL ACCEPT

Calder Asserts Demand Is So Great That the Governor Can't Avoid Accepting.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, Sept. 5.—In spite of the fact that the Republican State convention will be held in this city in a little over three weeks, Gov. Miller is neither thinking nor worrying over the question of his renomination. His attention was called today to reports from New York that certain Republican leaders, fearing the consequences of the Governor's failure to announce his candidacy, had sent a hurry call to Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of New York State, who is in Europe.

"I certainly would retire in favor of Justice Tompkins," was the Governor's reply. It has been declared that many leaders have given up hope of inducing Gov. Miller to accept a renomination and that Justice Tompkins now stands out as the principal alternative choice. Gov. Miller, however, refused to show any interest in these reports, saying that he had something else to think of besides the convention. He still maintains the reticence that has characterized him for months when asked if he would accept the nomination if he were the choice of the convention.

The leaders of the party still insist that they have no doubt that when the time comes Gov. Miller will accede to the demand of Republicans that he again be their standard bearer. They declare that he will not desert the party if it needs him. They say that he is a fighter and has never been known to quit under fire.

One of the Republicans who have supreme confidence in the belief that Gov. Miller will accept a renomination is William M. Calder, who was in Albany today. He came here to address a convention of shoe dealers.

"I believe," he said, "that the demand within the party is so general and insistent for Gov. Miller's renomination that there seems to be no way for him to avoid it, even if his wishes run along other lines. His party wants and demands him. Under Gov. Miller's guidance New York State has pointed the way for all the rest of the nation in the fuel emergency. What New York has done by his advice is absolutely all and the very best that government could do to meet the emergency. The rest of the nation is watching and following the lead that Miller has given to New York State. He is a mighty big man."

CONFEREES REFUSE TO LET BONUS SIDETRACK TARIFF

set aside the tariff, which was supported by the North Dakota leader, and Senators Simmons and Walsh (Mass.), Democrats.

During the discussion of the McCumber proposal, Mr. Fordney made it quite clear that his affections were chiefly centered on the tariff and not on the bonus. At any rate, he declared the Republican party was pledged to put through a tariff measure without unnecessary delay and intended to stand by that pledge. While asserting his friendship for the bonus, the Ways and Means Chairman declared that preference be given the tariff bill.

It developed during the wrangle over the McCumber suggestion that President Harding and the other leaders of the party were of one mind regarding the tariff and of two minds regarding the bonus. Mr. Fordney supported his position by declaring the bonus should be used as a club over the Senate and House to insure the attendance of a quorum to put through the tariff bill. He argued that if the bonus bill was sent to the President first, Senators and Representatives eager to return to their homes would remain at the Capitol only long enough for it and would not wait for the tariff bill.

Necessary to Party Welfare.

Mr. Fordney, supported by Senator Smoot and his House associates, declared that action on the tariff was vitally necessary to the welfare of the Republican party in the Congressional elections. He said in substance that the leaders of the party had decided that a tariff bill must be passed and sent to the President before the elections despite the contrary views largely prevailing in both houses. He pointed out that the bonus, which a majority of the Senators and Representatives are supporting, would compel their attendance to vote on the conference report on that measure, but that many Senators and Representatives might try to dodge a vote on the tariff.

Mr. McCumber put up a strong plea for the bonus. He ventured the prediction, which went unchallenged, that the bonus could be disposed of and reported in two hours. He called the attention of his colleagues to the promises made to the politicians in the American Legion and insisted that the pledges be kept. Mr. McCumber then lost the struggle and the conference went ahead with the tariff.

The decision not only caused great surprise among the supporters of the bonus in the two houses but also consternation among the politicians in the American Legion. These men expressed the fullest confidence that the tariff would be set aside and the bonus come out of the conference this afternoon or tomorrow. When THE NEW YORK HERALD informed representatives of this American Legion of the decision of the committee they expressed the greatest astonishment and chagrin and intimated they would read the riot act to Mr. Fordney and his associates without delay.

Protests Prove Futile.

Protests made by the Legion politicians late this afternoon did not result as they predicted. Their confidence that "Fordney would back down" was not verified. On the contrary, the conference proceeded on the even tenor of its way and devoted its entire attention to the tariff without mentioning the bonus. One of the reasons given by a conferee for sidetracking the bonus was that the leaders in Congress believed it should not be sent to the White House pending the settlement of the railway shopmen's strike which might require the Government to resort to military force to put an end to possible disorders.

While this element in the situation probably exercised some influence over the decision of the conferees to set the bonus aside, the reasons given by Mr. Fordney were undoubtedly correct. These reasons were accepted by the members of both houses as convincing proof of the determination of the Republican leaders to put the tariff bill through according to the original schedule. Unless there is some change in the Fordney program adopted by the conference the tariff bill will, therefore, be passed before the Congressional elections instead of being held in conference.

Few, if any, of the members of the two houses believe the tariff measure will be ready for a second look within the next two weeks. They are quite sure of one thing. It is that a drastic revision will be made in not only the fundamental and administrative features of the tariff bill passed by the Senate, but also a scaling down of the rates designed to dissipate the impression that the Senate revenue measure will make for an unpopular increase in living costs to the people.

It seems to be the purpose of Mr. Fordney and Mr. McCumber to meet criticism in this respect by attempting to remove the causes for it. Republican can leaders who have conferred with the framers of the tariff bill have bluntly told them the Democratic opposition had succeeded in creating the impression that the tariff bill passed by the Senate would impose income burdens on the entire country and influence hundreds of thousands of voters against the Republican party.

Republican as well as Democratic Senators and Representatives who vigorously opposed the rates levied by the Senate schedules expect "a great many modifications" which will be obviously intended to relieve popular anxiety. Whether there is actually any basis for this belief remains to be seen.

Information given out by the conferees to date has mainly related to comparatively unimportant changes compared. It was announced this afternoon that the conferees were approaching the "key" items, and it would probably be a week before any decision regarding the major features of the bill could be reached. There is no question, however, that the impression now prevailing in Congress is that the tariff bill will be put through before and not after election and ahead of the bonus.

ERROR NEARLY KEPT COHALAN OFF BALLOT

Supporters Charge 'Trick' by Board of Elections.

Friends of Surrogate John P. Cohalan charge that a "contemptible political trick" was played on them by certain persons in the Board of Elections who have Tammany affiliations. They were informed, they say, that it was not necessary to have a facsimile of the emblem of the independent political party formed to back the Surrogate's candidacy on the petitions placing him in nomination. After having had thousands of petitions printed on this assurance and having obtained more than 3,000 signatures, they say, it was discovered that such a facsimile was required.

"It was a contemptible political trick," said Joseph McCloskey, one of three members of the Cohalan Non-partisan Committee who sought information at the Board of Elections. "Had it not been for the fortunate discovery of what the Elections Board official now calls an error the name of Surrogate Cohalan would not have appeared on the ballot at the general election and the plot to remove him from the bench would have been consummated."

The independent party is to be called the Cohalan Nomination. Its emblem is to be a statue of justice. The committee on vacancies is to consist of George L. Shearer, Leslie J. Tompkins and L. Maurice Wormser.

Campaign headquarters have been secured at 140 Broadway at Forty-fourth street. The selection of the campaign manager will be made later.

FOLEY WINS PLACE ON PRIMARY TICKET

Justice Lewis Upholds Coney Island Insurgent in Fight on Sutherland.

HARTNETT PETITION GOOD

Decision Reserved in Other Protests in Campaign of Brooklyn Democrats.

Supreme Court Justice Lewis in Brooklyn yesterday signed an order compelling the Board of Elections to certify as proper the nominating petitions of John J. Foley, who seeks to wrest the title of Democratic State Committeeman from State Senator Kenneth Sutherland in the Sixteenth Assembly district, and Sydney G. Hartnett, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Assemblyman in the same district.

Objections to the wording of the petition of both the candidates had been made. Justice Lewis held that while there were mistakes they were so slight and of such a technical nature that they did not invalidate the petitions.

On other cases involving the petitions of candidates at the coming primary contests Justice Lewis reserved decision. Clyde W. Carter, who is looking for the Congressional nomination in the Fifth District asked that the name of Irving M. Black, the Democratic organization designer for the same office, be stricken from the list on the ground that he had not been communicated with and expressed a willingness to be a candidate.

On the same ground Thomas F. Tey-trick, who seeks to oust Deputy Public Works Commissioner Joseph Fennelly as Democratic leader of the Second Assembly District, asked that the latter's name be stricken from the ballot as a candidate for the place of State Committeeman.

Gerald Morrell, a candidate for the nomination as Congressman from the Eleventh District asked that the name of William E. Cleary, the organization designer, be stricken from the ballot.

Objection was also made to the petition of John Lucey, candidate for Assembly from the Second District. Joseph L. McCarthy, a candidate for Assembly in the Fifteenth District, asked that the Election Board be compelled to accept his petition, which had been rejected on the ground that it is incomplete.

TUTTLE QUILTS JERSEY RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Commissioner, Ill., Leaves Democratic Field to Silzer.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. TRENTON, Sept. 5.—Illness of Commissioner William E. Tuttle, Jr., of the State Banking and Insurance Department, compelled him to withdraw today as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Mr. Tuttle is suffering from an attack of acute rheumatism. The Secretary of State has notified all the county clerks to eliminate the commissioner's name from the official ballot.

With Mr. Tuttle out, Judge George H. Silzer of Middlesex, candidate of the Hudson county machine, has the field to himself. With no contest in the primaries, it is understood that Judge Silzer will resign from the bench during the week.

MAKING FEWER HAIR NETS.

Chinese Factories Fear Use of Them Is Falling Off.

CHEEPOO, Province of Shantung, China, Sept. 5.—Women in America and Europe are using fewer hair nets than heretofore, if the fall in the market here is a criterion. The making of hair nets is one of Shantung's chief industries. More than 70,000 persons are employed in 270 factories in weaving into nets hair obtained from "pigtail" discarded by Chinese.

Announcing the 1923 Series

The 1923 Series of New Oakland Six-44 models are ready for delivery. They are distinctly new in beauty of line and in refinement of detail, and yet they retain all of the basic high quality of the first Six-44's.

Never before have so many exclusive and valuable features been combined with such high quality construction in a car so reasonably priced. Never has the automobile dollar bought more than it buys in the 1923 Oakland at the recently reduced price of $995.

The powerful, six-cylinder, overhead-valve engine carries the same written, 15,000 mile guarantee. But the performance of this motor is even more remarkable due to a new system of carburetion. Other distinct improvements add greatly to car appearance and driving ease.

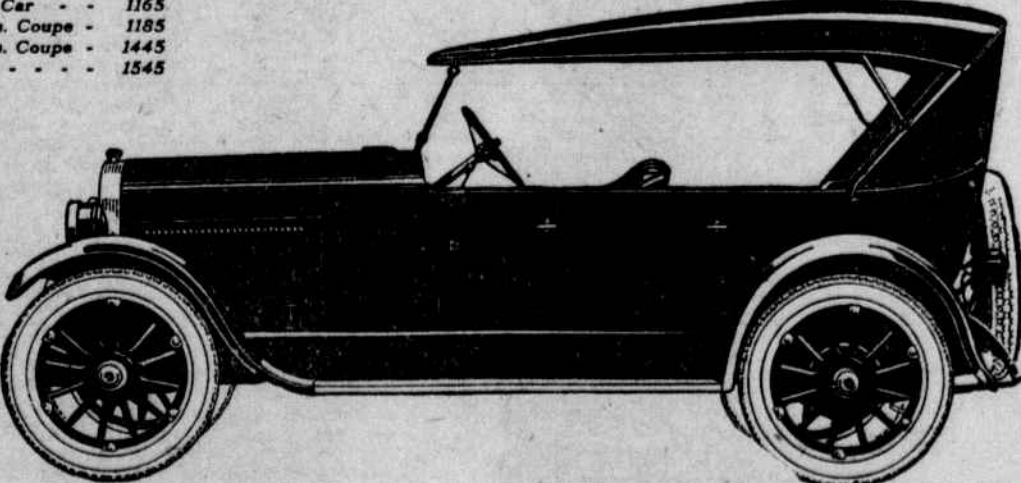

Examine the 1923 Oakland critically. In performance, power, beauty and economy it instantly reveals superior value. Compare it with any other light-six—and you will never be content to buy a car of lesser worth.

When you come in to examine the many new refinements and improvements in the 1923 Series, you will discover two exclusive features of great value to be found in no other car at any price.
